Serving the Lakeshore Communities

Lakeview senior celebrations

By Sally Lane

Life is full of milestones to celebrate. From a child's first step to that confident walk across the stage to receive a high school diploma, a student's life has been celebrated and supported by parents, teachers and the community. The predictable senior year of school includes many treasured "lasts" - sports events, concerts, assemblies, classes, school dances, the prom and memorable times with friends and classmates ... until this year.

In February 2020, the "predictable" school year fell apart with seniors caught in the middle. Spring sports, prom, college plans - even gatherings of friends - all up in the air. However, for reasons that were completely unpredictable, this senior year may be the most memorable in all the last 58 years of Lakeview High School. The first class graduated from the newly built Lakeview High School in 1962.

As the possibility of no in-building classes for the rest of the school year became a reality, our schools jumped into action. Lakeview students from Grade 4 to seniors already had computers, and most of the younger students also had access to computers at home, but what was a leisurely movement to partial supplementary online classes turned into a rush to connect all students. The future of education became NOW!

We should applaud the creativity and caring of ALL the Lakeview district teachers and administration for their hours and hours of work to make the transition to online learning for their students. They have worked to make sure that each student feels their care. The creative ways the teachers have used the internet has profoundly moved education into the future and allowed our children to move forward in the school system.

That brings us to the Class of 2020. As it became obvious that there was not going to be the usual graduation ceremony {all "circumstance" with no "pomp"} our high school Superintendent Velina Jo Taylor, Principal Larry Herrholtz, Assistant Principal Mike DeToro, Athletic Director Ron DeJulio AND many members of the community worked very hard to make memories for this class.

Signs identifying seniors were given to the students for their yards thanks to parents who suggested them, and thanks to Printer's Edge for printing them.

Senior spring athletes whose season was ended before it began were honored in a virtual program at the stadium. (details were in the May 2 issue of the "Cortland News"). A "sunset" photo of seniors in their cars in front of the high school brought the class together while keeping "social distance" - a difficult task - was held May 8.

Thanks to the entire Cortland/Bazetta community the annual "Senior Parade" was an even better event. Along with the usual parade around town, a drive through Ohio Living Lake Vista was added so that our seniors could be congratulated with waves and cheers from their seniors. See story on page 6.

The Class of 2020 will have plenty of memories. They will have

2019 Drinking Water Consumer Confidence Report

The city's annual Drinking Water Consumer Confidence Report is now available. The Ohio EPA requires the city to make available to all water consumers by July 1 of every year the results of the previous year's testing. The CCR is mailed in the water bills and can also be accessed at our city website. The EPA's schedule of compliance dictates the contaminants and frequency of testing.

The city of Cortland receives its drinking water from seven wells. Four of these wells are located in Willow Park, two wells are located on the property behind City Hall, and the seventh well is off of Bradley Brownlee Road. Our water comes from a limestone aquifer, which is approximately 300 feet deep. The only treatment the city performs is fluoridation and chlorination.

This big, handsome brute is Ralph! He is a good dog with a big heart to match his stature. Ralph loves to run around outside and hang out with his people. He also enjoys a nice treat and will thank you with big sloppy kisses. Ralph arrived at the Animal Welfare League in March after his owners could no longer care for him. In his previous home, Ralph shared space with other dogs, but he seems to thrive better as the only fur-child. If you are interested in adopting Ralph, visit the AWL website at awlrescueme.com to submit an application.

Meet Baby! Baby is an affectionate and snuggly cat that will show you how happy and content she is with her constant purr. She adores attention and is very playful, but also enjoys perching in a window and relaxing in the sun. Baby found herself at the Animal Welfare League in March when her previous owners could no longer care for her. She previously lived in a home with other cats, and Baby appears to get along great with just about everyone she meets. Seniors celebrate seniors during annual parade

By Sally Lane

It is a tough time for seniors whether you are a senior in high school or a 65+ senior citizen. Our high school seniors are missing the traditional closure to their high school careers: prom, parties, gatherings of friends. Our senior citizens feel the same isolation. Social distancing has been social isolation as family and friends are not allowed to visit the facility for fear of spreading COVID-19.

When the older group of seniors heard that the youngest seniors were probably going to miss their annual last-day-of-school parade, a plan began to take shape. Lake Vista employee Sarah Hadley and others jumped into action and contacted a few people at the school. The result was a parade that both groups of seniors on both ends of the age spectrum will always remember.

Traditionally the parade consists of seniors driving their cars through Willow Park, to the Middle School building and back to the High School on their last day of classes. It is a let-off-steam time with horns blaring, laughter and happy hollers.

There were smiles, laughing, waving, and cheering, as seniors at Ohio Living's Lake Vista enthusiastically greeted the younger seniors. A very long line of decorated student's cars, led by police cars and firetrucks form Cortland and Bazetta, circled through the complex. The weather was cold and snowy, but the mood was light and happy. Principal Lawrence Herrholtz described the event as "powerful" as both groups bonded in this shared experience.

The old saying "It takes a village ..." was significant as this senior living community pulled together to make this parade special and a wonderful gift to the Class of 2020.

Lakeview senior to receive top honor from Diocese

Douglas Gurdak, senior, Lakeview High School, St. Robert Parish, is one of 14 Mahoning Valley students who are receiving high honors from the Catholic Diocese of Youngstown.

The award goes to high school juniors and seniors who model dedication, integrity, values and promise for church and society. Students are chosen for modeling Christian discipleship and exemplifying the qualities of moral integrity, prayer, good works and Christian leadership in their school and parish communities.

Sixty-seven students were nominated. A maximum of two Eagle of the Cross Awards are presented to students in each of the six diocesan Catholic high schools and up to three in the parishes.

Cortland resident earns medical degree

Austin T. Haines of Cortland, was among the students who received a doctor of osteopathic medicine (D.O.) degree from Ohio University Heritage College of Osteopathic Medicine at the college's April 18 degree conferral.

In 2016 Dr. Haines earned a B.S. in biochemistry from John Carroll University, and is a 2012 graduate of Lakeview High School. After graduation Dr. Haines will begin a residency in family medicine at University Hospitals St. John Medical Center in Westlake, Ohio. He is the son of Paul Haines of Bay Village and Jennifer Haines of Cortland.

The 2020 graduating class was the 41st to graduate from the Heritage College, which was created by the Ohio Legislature in 1975, and is the only institution in the state accredited to educate osteopathic physicians.

Safety first

When an emergency happens, we all know that seconds count. Reflective address plates can be so important when first responders are trying to find your home as quickly as possible. Now that the weather is getting a little nicer, we are all outside working in our yards and making some home improvements for curb appeal, please consider the purchase of reflective address plates to clearly mark your house number.

The sale of these will help provide improvements for the Lakeview Local Land Lab. The land lab is an outdoor learning center for staff and students to get hands on experience with things that cannot be done in a classroom setting. The plates are $20 each or two for $35. They can be horizontal or vertical and are white with black numbers. To place an order, please call Laura DePizzo at 330-638-2145 or 330-307-8311 or email at Laura.DePizzo@lakeviewlocal.org.

The Trumbull County Women's History Committee wishes to thank all those who purchased tickets for the 2020 event. The event has been canceled for this year. All those who purchased tickets will soon be receiving a reimbursement from the committee. We look forward to your participation in 2021.

Local agencies partner to feed the homebound

SCOPE Senior Services, the Salvation Army and Second Harvest Food Bank have recently partnered to provide free groceries to Trumbull County residents during this COVID-19 crisis who are homebound and shut in.

SCOPE has been operating a "Traveling Pantry" food truck that delivers free groceries to the elderly in Trumbull County since July of 2015. Second Harvest Food Bank provides food to hundreds of non-profits and food pantries to be distributed through those local agencies including the Salvation Army. Both SCOPE Senior Services and the Salvation Army are being financially supported by the United Way of Trumbull County.

Second Harvest delivers pallets full of food to the Salvation Army headquarters in Warren. Then, the food is bagged, loaded and delivered via volunteers including ladies from the Serenity House program, North Mar Church and SCOPE staff through 15 routes across Trumbull County.

"Since the SCOPE food truck delivery project has been in existence for a while it was ideal for our group to help provide this service not just to our elderly citizens, but to those of any age who are poor and homebound during this crisis," stated Mike Wilson, director of SCOPE.

If you are in need of food, paper products or cleaning supplies in Trumbull County call SCOPE directly at 330-399-8846 or after hours call 211 Help Network.

City-wide garage sale delayed

910th launches 'Hercs Over America' to salute COVID-19 responders

The 910th Airlift Wing recently launched two flights of "Hercs Over America," as a way for the Air Force Reserve family to salute the thousands of healthcare workers, essential employees and other first responders on the front line of the battle against COVID-19.

This "salute" flyover, consisted of two of the 910th's C-130H Hercules aircraft that initially traveled to healthcare facilities in Erie, Penn., and then proceeded to the Cleveland area to salute workers in six Cleveland-area hospitals. The C-130s then headed off to Akron and Canton facilities.

Because the 910th received an incredibly positive response from its initial "Hercs Over America" flyover and since only a limited number of medical facilities could be flown over earlier that week, the 910th built a list of additional facilities based on feedback received from the wing's community partners and social media followers to conduct a second "salute" flyover. The 910th aircraft were then in the skies locally above St. Joseph Medical Center in Warren, St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Youngstown and St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Boardman.

"The 910th's Reserve Citizen Airmen are proud to serve alongside the first responders and essential personnel in the COVID-19 response efforts. We are all in this together. These selfless Americans on the front lines of the fight against COVID-19 remind us we can rise to meet any challenge with unrivaled spirit and commitment," the station said in a statement.

As with many Air Force Reserve community engagement flying activities, these flyovers were scheduled to occur during one of the wing's training missions and incurred no additional cost to taxpayers.

Two C-130H Hercules aircraft assigned to the 757th Airlift Squadron fly over Youngstown on May 4. Aircrew members assigned to the 757th AS flew the aircraft over hospitals in Western Pennsylvania and Northeastern Ohio as part of the "America Strong" movement started by the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds to salute first responders and medical workers during the COVID-19 pandemic. 'Carpe Diem Ad Dominum'

Historical events have impacted countless cultures. Today, as we focus on our Cortland graduates, events have prevented them from graduating in the traditional form. Years ago, young men were drafted to defend their country, and thus, what would have been a traditional form of young life was changed dramatically. Life changes, and life changes for many different reasons. The progress of technology, wars, and viruses just to name a few. Sometimes life returns to normal, but those who lived through those events will bare the marks of that time in history that they lived through.

In the years after WWII, boys grew up fast and became men. They worked hard for hard work was instilled in them from their experiences behind enemy lines. Women became thrifty with the greenback. They entered professions that their husbands and sons left behind when they were called to defend freedom. So great the impact of the war that even today, nearly 75 years after the war, those who lived through that time still display the habits of hard work, integrity, and resourcefulness that they were forced to develop all at once.

your life. You will see many changes in the world between now and the day that you grow old and gray. Some changes will be good, and others will be for the worse, but there is one thing that will never change. God. He will always be there for you- both in the good times and bad. Trust in Him and obey His unchanging Word. As one of many pastors in this town of Cortland I offer to you two pieces of advice as you graduate this year. The first is this... Live your life to please God. Please Him in your work, in your public life, and in the privacy of your own home, and if you live to please Him by following His Word then you will please those people in your life who really matter. My second piece of advice is this. Whether you decide to attend university, trade school, begin an apprenticeship, or something else remember these words. Learn from every moment of life, not just in the classroom, but outside of it. Learn from unique opportunities. Take out your ear buds and learn from your observations of the people around you. Learn from God's creation. Listen to His voice displayed by the Works of His Hands. Congratulations!

Dear Graduates,
You will remember today for all of

Men of Faith

Breakfast fellowships have been curtailed because of the virus, which has hampered men to build their relationships with other men in person. There is a gathering of 25 to 100 men in attendance every Saturday morning of the month in different locations around the Mahoning Valley and beyond uniting men from different churches coming together to glorify the Lord.

Every breakfast includes a testimonial speaker giving their rescue story and some also have uplifting music. Each breakfast the Men's Rally in the Valley promotional material is given out: 25,000 business card tickets, 3,000 posters, 3,000 wrist bands, 4,000 book marks and 2,500 yard signs for this year's Rally purchased by gracious sponsors. The Rally has been postponed to Saturday, Oct. 10 at the Covelli Center starting at 9 a.m. with "Jesus is our Only Hope" as the theme with five speakers (mensrally.org) and JJ Weeks, Christian recording artist, Victory Christian Praise Band and testimonies from Teen Challenge men. If you would like to be on the email list or have any questions, email Jeff at jcline3699@gmail.com.

Ohio Veterans Hall of Fame seeking applications

The Ohio Veterans Hall of Fame is accepting nominations to recognize those who served in the U.S. Armed Forces and continue to contribute to our communities, state, and nation through exceptional acts of volunteerism, advocacy, professional distinction, public service, or philanthropy.

Each year, the Hall of Fame inducts up to 20 former service members based on recommendations from an Executive Committee of veterans from throughout the state and approval from the Governor of Ohio.

To be considered, the veteran must meet the following criteria:

- Be a past or current Ohio resident
- Have received an honorable discharge
- Be of good moral

This Hall of Fame sets the standard for recognizing Ohio's veterans for accomplishments beyond their military service. In addition, it is a fitting way to say "thank you for your service to our nation and thank you for your continued service to our communities." Chances are you know a veteran who deserves to be inducted into the Ohio Veterans Hall of Fame. You are encouraged to nominate that deserving veteran today.

Nomination deadline is June 1, 2020. Guidelines, a sample nomination, and more information are available at <http://dvs.ohio.gov/main/veterans-hall-of-fame.html>.

To a New Beginning!
CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF 2020!

New break temporarily makes retirement plan withdrawals less taxing

A key provision of the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act is intended to help alleviate some of the economic hardship many Americans are experiencing as a result of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic. It allows tax-favored treatment for distributions from retirement accounts in certain situations.

Penalty waiver and more

Under the CARES Act, IRA owners who are adversely affected by the COVID-19 pandemic are eligible to take tax-favored "coronavirus-related" distributions (CVDs) of up to $100,000 from their IRAs. If you're under age 59½, the early withdrawal penalty that normally would apply is waived. Any eligible IRA owner can recontribute (repay) a CVD back into their IRA within three years of the withdrawal date and treat the withdrawal and later recontribution as a tax-free rollover. There are no limitations on what you can use CVD funds for during that three-year period.

The CARES Act also may allow you to take tax-favored CVDs from your employer's qualified retirement plan, such as a 401(k) or profit-sharing plan, if the plan allows it. If allowed, the tax rules for CVDs taken from qualified plans are similar to those for CVDs taken from IRAs. As of this writing, a lot of details still need to be figured out about how CVDs taken from qualified plans will work. Contact the appropriate person with your employer for more information.

7 basic rules

There are seven basic rules for taking CVDs from IRAs:

1. You can take one or more CVDs up to the $100,000 limit.
2. CVDs can come from different IRAs.
3. The three-year recontribution period for each CVD begins on the day after you receive it.
4. You can make your recontributions in a lump sum or through multiple recontributions.
5. You can recontribute to one or several IRAs, and they don't have to be the same accounts you took the CVDs from.
6. As long as you recontribute the entire CVD amount within the three-year window, the whole transaction or series of transactions are treated as tax-free IRA rollovers.
7. If you're under 59½, the 10% penalty tax that usually applies to early IRA withdrawals is waived for CVDs, even if you don't recontribute.

If your spouse owns one or more IRAs in his or her own name, he or she may be eligible for the same distribution privilege.

Who's eligible

CVDs can be taken from January 1, 2020, through December 30, 2020, by an eligible individual. That means an individual:

- Who's diagnosed with COVID-19 by a test approved by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention,
- Whose spouse or dependent (generally a qualifying child or relative who receives more than half of his or her support from you) is diagnosed with COVID-19 by such a test,
- Who experiences adverse financial consequences as a result of being quarantined, furloughed, laid off or having work hours reduced due to COVID-19,
- Who's unable to work because of lack of childcare due to COVID-19 and experiences adverse financial consequences as a result,
- Who owns or operates a business that has closed or has had operating hours reduced due to COVID-19 and has experienced adverse financial consequences as a result, or
- Who has experienced adverse financial consequences due to other COVID-19-related factors.

As of this writing, IRS guidance on how to interpret the last two factors is needed. Check in with us for the latest developments.

When taxes are due

You'll be taxed on any CVD amount that you don't recontribute within the three-year window. But you won't have to worry about owing the 10% early withdrawal penalty if you're under 59½.

You can choose to spread the taxable amount equally over three years, apparently starting with 2020. But here it gets tricky, because the three-year window won't close until sometime in 2023. Until then, it won't be clear that you failed to take advantage of the tax-free CVD rollover deal. So, you may have to amend a prior-year return to report some additional taxable income from the CVD. As of this writing, the IRS is expected to issue guidance to clarify this issue. Again, check in with us for the latest information.

You also have the option of simply reporting the taxable income from the CVD on your 2020 individual income tax return Form 1040. Again, you won't owe the 10% early withdrawal penalty if you're under 59½.

Getting through the crisis

CVDs can be a helpful, flexible tax-favored financial tool for eligible taxpayers during the pandemic. But it's just one of several financial relief measures available under the CARES Act that include tax relief, and other relief legislation may be forthcoming. We can help you take advantage of relief measures that will help you get through the COVID-19 crisis.

It may be a time for tax loss harvesting

One possible upside to a down market comes in the form of a long-recognized strategy called tax loss harvesting. The concept took a backseat in the midst of an 11-year bull market, but it has jumped back into discussion now.

Given the dramatic drop in investment markets in 2020, many investors may hold positions in stocks that have lost ground. In the right circumstances, generating a tax loss by selling specific securities may be advantageous. Here's what you should know:

A potential tax-saving strategy

The tax loss harvesting strategy applies specifically to investments held in taxable accounts. Since current taxes aren't applied to IRAs or workplace retirement plans, this strategy is not applicable in those accounts.

The tax benefit of selling a security in a loss position is that those losses could potentially reduce your tax liability. Suppose you invested $10,000 to buy 1000 shares of a stock for $10 per share more than a year ago. Today, if the stock's value dropped to $8 per share, your initial investment is now valued at $8,000. The stock may recover and eventually appreciate in value. But if you sell it today, you could claim a $2,000 long-term capital loss. Is that the right choice?

The upside of tax-loss selling

One deciding factor is whether you have investment gains that can be offset by the losses you incur from selling securities in a negative position. Long-term capital gains you claim are taxed at rates of 0, 15, or 20 percent based on your federal tax return. If you had a $3,000 long-term capital gain to claim on your 2020 tax return, that would come with a federal income tax bill of $450 if your long-term capital gain is taxed at the 15% rate. If you lock in a $3,000 long-term capital loss, it will offset that gain and eliminate any tax liability with respect to the capital gains.

Likewise, if you own mutual funds in a taxable account, they may pay out capital gains distributions this year, even if they are not performing well at the present time. Those gains too can be offset by capital losses you claim.

Note that you may not need or want to offset capital gains if your taxable income, including the gains, is $40,000 or less for single tax filers or a married taxpayer filing separately, or $80,000 or less for a married couple filing a joint return. Taxpayers with income and gains below those income thresholds qualify for a 0% tax rate on long-term capital gains.

Singles and married couples filing a joint return can use up to $3,000 of net capital losses to offset ordinary income ($1,500 for a married, filing separately, tax filer). Beyond that, unused losses can be forwarded to offset potential taxable capital gains in future tax years.

Cautions about tax loss selling

The downside to selling a position that has suffered a loss is that you can't purchase that specific security or one that is "substantially identical" 30 days before or after the sale at a loss. Choosing to sell also means you sacrifice the potential to benefit from a rebound in the price of the security. You want to be certain that you are comfortable not owning a specific security for a period of time that could be a candidate for tax loss harvesting.

Most of all, any buy-or-sell decisions you make regarding your portfolio need to go beyond just the tax consequences. Talk to your financial advisor about how tax loss harvesting opportunities fit into your overall financial plan. Be sure to consult with your tax advisor as well to understand how tax rules apply.
